

Do you want to be a Justice of the Peace for the Northern Territory?

If so, you will need to ensure you have met the following criteria before you apply:

- Your current address must be in the Northern Territory and you must have evidence that you have lived at your current address for at least 12 months.
- You must be enrolled on the Northern Territory Electoral Roll at your current address.
- You must intend to stay in the Northern Territory for at least the next five years.
- You must be of 'good character' and be able to provide three referee reports in support of this statement.
- You must allow the Northern Territory Police to conduct a criminal history check against your name (we will complete this for you and just remember that it is a reflection of your good character).
- You must agree to confidential inquiries being made about you regarding your Justice of the Peace application.
- You must be able to show that there is a need for a Justice of the Peace within your community.
- You must demonstrate knowledge of the requirements of the role of a Justice of the Peace.
- And if successful, you must agree that your name, contact details and any languages that you can speak or translate be published on the internet for promotional and statistical purposes.

If you can answer YES to all these questions then start talking with us and where necessary we will assist you with your application (the form is located in our information pack).

Should you require any further information or assistance, please feel free to contact the Aboriginal Justice Unit by telephone: (08) 8935 7655 or via email: AGD.AJU@nt.gov.au

You may submit completed applications to the Statutory Appointments Office via email: AGD.sao@nt.gov.au or if you have any questions about Justice of the Peace appointments, call via telephone: (08) 8999 1809